1. The Problem

Product photos, labels, logos and invoices were spread across email attachments, personal laptops and three different Google Drive accounts. The team spent time searching for files and sometimes used old versions of labels.

2. Folder Structure

One shared drive for the whole business. Numbers keep the main folders in the same order for everyone.

3. File Naming Rule

`YYYY-MM-DD_Category_Short-description_v01`

Good example	Why it works
`2026-10-20_Label_Cedar-Smoke-8oz_v03`	Date first, so files sort in order; version number shows the latest
`2026-10-25_Blog_Fall-Candle-Care_featured`	Easy to find from the Weekly Blog Post SOP
`2026-10-18_PO_Wax-Supplier_0142`	Matches the purchase order number in email

> Avoid names like "final", "final2" or "new label". Use version numbers instead, and move old versions to 99 Archive.

4. Who Can Access What

Folder	Olivia (CEO)	Virtual Assistant	Bookkeeper	Designer

5. Moving Old Files (one-time clean-up)

1. Create the folder structure above in the shared drive.
2. Download attachments from the inbox labels 5 · Suppliers and 7 · Receipts & Finance and save them in the matching folder.
3. Rename files using the naming rule as you move them.
4. Keep only the latest version of each label in 02 Products; move older versions to 99 Archive.
5. Ask Olivia to confirm before deleting any file.

6. Monthly Clean-up Checklist

☐ No loose files outside the numbered folders
☐ All new files follow the naming rule
☐ Old versions moved to 99 Archive
☐ Access list still correct for each folder
